Calloway Placed In New District To Vote In Fall

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The state Senate today approved, 24-10, three amendments to its reapportionment bill.

The key change provides that Jefferson County will not get its two additional senators until 1965.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. George Overby, D-Murray, changed the number of the district comprised of Trigg, Calloway and Christian counties from the 32nd to the 31st.

And it changes the number of one of the Senate Jefferson County districts from 31 to 32.

Because only senators from odd-numbered districts will be elected in November, the western Kentucky district will have a senatorial election.

Originally, that district would have had no representative until 1965 and Jefferson County would have gotten one new senator in the coming election and one in 1965.

Overby speaks for the bill, saying that it would "reapportion the seats in the Senate to reflect the growth of the state."

"If Jefferson County does not get adequate representation, we are wasting our time here. This amendment means we will not get what we are entitled to until 1965," he said.

Overby answered that he thought Jefferson County was being a bit hogish because he said it still would have five senators under his amendment, whereas under the original plan there would be only four.

"Five is better than none," he said.

Two Others Shifted
The other two amendments shifted Grant County from the 26th to the 30th district and Breckinridge County from the 10th to the 7th district.

The Breckinridge change was sponsored by Sen. Paul Fugate, and reportedly gives him a better chance for reelection.

Other amendments were expected to be offered to the bill before the final vote is taken later today.

Senate leaders expected the bill, which allots Jefferson County seven Senate seats and Fayette County two seats, to get between 24 and 28 "aye" votes. Twenty are needed to pass the bill.

The measure is based on a bill drafted by the Senate's special committee on reapportionment.

The House, meantime, had a relatively more routine session on tap. The big test came Tuesday in the Rules Committee, which reported out the measure after two weeks of deliberation. It immediately was given a first reading.

The House bill will be voted upon Thursday after it mandatory second reading today.

World Day Of Prayer Set For March 1

The United Church Women under the National Council of Churches have issued their annual Call to Prayer with the World Day of Prayer to be held on the First Friday of the Lenten season, March 1.

The local observance, sponsored by the Calloway County Council of United Church Women will be held in the Goshen Methodist Church on that day and all Christian women of the community are invited to participate.

Mrs. Charles Crawford, president of the local council said.

Sponsored by the women of the major protestant and orthodox communions, the World Day of Prayer has a meaningful history of more than 75 years behind it.

Mrs. Crawford continued. Prayer and giving for the world-wide mission of the church have been its primary purpose. It has traditionally brought people together across denominational, racial, national and cultural boundaries to pray for the needs of the world and to make an offering for the carrying out of the church's mission across the world, she said.

This World Day of Prayer is truly world-wide in character. Basically the same service is used by groups in approximately 150 countries. This provides an extraordinary opportunity for fellowship at a deep level with Christians all over the world.

Increasingly persons from many parts of the world are involved in shaping the service. There is a very real possibility for Christian unity in the act of prayer, Mrs. Crawford concluded.

Mrs. Crawford extended an invitation to each Christian woman, whether or not a member of the Council, to attend this year's World Day of Prayer Service on Friday, March 1, at 1:00 p.m.

Looking East on Nash Drive, one can see most of the 42 units located in Project One of the housing project. The street above is 32 feet wide and has curbs, gutters and sidewalk. Different designs, brick and roof colors add to the project.

Viewing Project Two toward the southwest, the row of new homes provide a pleasant appearance. The street will be paved as soon as the weather permits. This project is located along Cherry in the northwest section of Murray. It contains a total of 20 units.

Library Questions And Answers

QUESTION: What is the Library of Congress?

ANSWER: The Library of Congress is in effect the National Library of the United States. It was first established as a library for the Congress. But, as it developed it grew to include service to all branches of the government, then to the public at large.

The collections of this Library contain some 10,000,000 volumes of books and pamphlets, 13,000,000 manuscripts, 2,000,000 maps, vast numbers of reels and strips of microfilm, phonograph records, and other materials.

The third meeting of the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Murray Board of Education was held last night at 7:30. Four topics were discussed: the evaluation of the quality of the educational program; a questionnaire on services desired in the schools; and a discussion on the status of Douglas High School.

Superintendent of City School Fred Schultz read a letter from the State Department of Education concerning Douglas High School which indicated that the school fails to meet minimum requirements in four areas, the program of studies, library services, health and physical education, and on several classes. It was pointed out that some classes have only one student.

The State Department also pointed out in the letter that it is not economically feasible to continue the operation of the high school.

Mr. Schultz told the advisory group that great effort has been expended at Douglas High, but with only 34 students in the entire school, a full program is almost impossible. The school has one senior this year.

If the school is discontinued, and apparently it will be, then twenty-

62 Units Nearly Completed; Will Be Occupied March 15

The first inspection of the Murray Municipal Housing Commission's two low rent housing projects was held today when Federal officials from the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Public Housing Administration arrived in Murray to see if the homes under construction here meet with all specifications.

Wilbur R. Clay, Inspector from the Atlanta Regional Office went through the homes. Pat Gingles, of the firm of Clements and Gingles, Architects, the firm which designed the sixty-two units, was in the inspection party.

The sixty-two units are almost complete. Landscaping will be done as soon as the weather permits.

Top soil will be spread in the yard areas and planting will take place.

Project one, between South Ninth and Broad Extended has a total of 42 units. Most of the units are on Nash Drive, a new 32 foot wide paved street and some of them are on South Ninth and Broad.

Project two, primarily along Cherry, has a total of 20 units. The curbs and gutters in the area have been poured and the street will be paved as soon as the weather permits.

L. D. Miller, Executive Director of the Housing Commission gave the following outline of the two projects.

Project Number One

No. Units Type Applicants
16 One bedroom 23
18 Two bedroom 15
6 Three bedroom 9
2 Four bedroom 0
Ten other requests are being considered.

Project Number Two

No. Units Type Applicants
4 One bedroom 5
4 Two bedroom 10
8 Three bedroom 4
2 Four bedroom 4
Eleven other requests are being given consideration.

Miller said that the units cost approximately $10,000 each and that the total cost of the two projects will reach over $600,000.

"The projects are being constructed by the Hardway Construction Company of Nashville, Tennessee. Gingles said that the two projects are the best that he has seen to date.

Several different colors of brick were used in the construction, and both hip and gable roofs used. Different roof colors were also used in an effort to make as much difference in appearance as possible.

All homes have tile baths, tile window sills, gas heat, gas water heaters, electric ranges. Concrete service walks to the rear are already poured and clothes lines are in place.

A minimum rent of $28.00 has been set. This rent includes all utilities.

Miller said that occupancy of the units will take place about March 15.

W. G. Nash is chairman of the commission with E. W. Riley, Buford Hurt, L. W. Paschall and Holmes Ellis as members. Miller is Executive Director of the commission.

Miller also reported that plans are progressing toward the elderly housing units which will be located east of the Broad-Ninth street project.

Advisory Group Has Meeting Last Night; Disposition Of Douglas High Is Discussed

six of the students will attend Murray High and the other eight will attend Calloway High, since they are county students.

Murray High has nine former students of Douglas High at the present time. Schultz pointed out that cost of instruction per pupil at Murray High is $198 per year, while the cost at Douglas is $251 per year. With the discontinuance of the high school at Douglas, a saving of $19,800 per year in instruction can be saved.

For the past several years the school has been kept open on an emergency and a "temporary" emergency basis.

An evaluation of the quality of instruction at Murray High was presented, prepared by Mrs. Charlotte Barker.

From the presentation it was pointed out that of the class of 1958-59 a percentage of the graduates entering college was 87 per cent, in the class of 59-60 85 per cent, class of 60-61 72 per cent, class of 61-62 78 per cent, and class of 62-63 78 per cent.

In the Kentucky College Qualification Test, given to all seniors, Murray High students ranked far above the state level. The conclusions drawn from the presentation is that Murray High graduates are well prepared for college work and that a good percentage continues through college and even to higher degrees.

The projection of enrollment in coming years indicates that plans must be drawn now for expansion in city schools.

The total of students from grades one through twelve in 1955 was 1165. This number jumped to 1439 in 1962.

The projected figure for 1967 is 1702.

Conclusion drawn from the projected increased enrollment are that a minimum of ten more classroom units will be needed in the next five years; Murray High will need all of the campus at Main and Eighth by 1967; major remodeling of the high school and Austin will be needed to fit the educational plans; and that Murray High will need additional space for physical education and auditorium space.

The advisory committee was appointed by the board to help the board reach some of the important decisions which must be made in the immediate future.

Amid The Ruins Of His Basketball Season, Rupp Says Players Can't Take Pressure

By ROBERT WESTON
United Press International

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Amid the ruins of his 1962-63 basketball season, Kentucky coach Adolph Rupp declared today that his players lack interest in fortitude.

"I've got a team that can't stand pressure," Rupp grumbled.
"These boys haven't got the instinctual fortitude to face a clutch situation."

The veteran coachmaster pointed to Kentucky's 14-8 record and said: "We have eight losses and seven of them were lost in the last minute or two."

Lose Five in SEC Rupp's Wildcats already have the ignominious distinction of losing more Southeastern Conference games—five—than any Kentucky team in Rupp's 33 years at the school. One more defeat and they would equal the most season attacks for any Rupp-coached Kentucky team.

The loss could come Saturday night when league-leading Auburn invades Memorial Coliseum for a game with the Wildcats.
Asked if he is disappointed in the play of All-American Cousin Nash, Rupp replied, "Who would n't be? But I don't want to put all the blame on him. The whole team has failed to deliver under pressure."

Nash, tabbed 6-5 junior from Lexington, Mass., has been outlined as one of the best players in Kentucky history. He already has become the first Kentucky player ever to score more than 1,000 points in less than two seasons.
Yet, he has often failed to come through when the Wildcats need him most.

Scoring Falls Off
In the last two games, for instance, Nash tallied eight points against Mississippi State and 13 against Vanderbilt — hardly the contribution one might expect from an All-American. The Wildcats dropped both games.

Rupp feels Kentucky would have won both the Mississippi State and Vanderbilt contests if the Wildcats had not lost starting guard Charles (Chit) Edmister through scholastic ineligibility.

"Edmister was really coming into his own as a senior when we lost him," said Rupp. "We have n't found the man who can take up the slack."
With Kentucky now out of the SEC running to represent the SEC in the NCAA championship eliminations, Rupp picks Auburn as the team most likely to represent the conference.

"Auburn's got a better schedule from here out than Georgia Tech," Rupp observed. "Tech still has to play Vandy and Tennessee away and you know that's going to be rough."

Mississippi State, which shares the conference lead with Auburn, has said it will not play in the NCAA tourney for racial reasons.

Decorator's Notebook

by A. B. Crass

One of the most important things to be considered when decorating a room is size. The furnishings must be scaled to meet the architectural features of the room. Pieces that are oversized will look overpowering and will also belittle the importance of smaller pieces. The size of patterns in wall-paper and textiles should be studied for their relationship and harmony to each other and to the length, breadth and height of the room.

There are no fixed dimensions for any particular piece of furniture. There are average sizes for almost all types of furniture which are used for the preliminary studies of room layouts, but these must often be altered to meet particular conditions and it is wise to study a furniture layout of a room before selections are made. Let the experienced person at Chris Furniture make a survey of your room, or house, and give you the benefit of their professional training.

New Cars To Be Equipped With Seat Belts

CHICAGO, Feb. 19 — Seat belts will be factory installed in the front seat of every Studebaker automobile produced after today, it was announced here by Studebaker Corporation.

This makes Studebaker the first American motor car manufacturer to include the life-saving installation of seat belts as a part of the automobile.

Egbert has earned a reputation as an exponent of automotive safety equipment by leading the U.S. automobile industry with over 100 million built-in roll-over bars in one model, the most advanced come-type safety door latches and fully padded auto interiors. He told a press conference at the opening of Chicago's Auto Show:

"It is our feeling — a strong feeling — that safety measures in motor cars should not come by petition from motorists but that automobile manufacturers should lead in safety equipment."

He gave strong credit to the work of the Women's Crusade for Seat Belts, an arm of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, for its work in promoting the nation-wide use of automotive seat belts.

"We feel that public education in the matter of seat belts has been accelerated to the point where auto buyers want seat belts in their cars — and will use these belts if they are installed."

He said that Studebaker — smallest of the nation's five automakers — will install belts at the factory on what is known as the "auto industry's" "delete option" basis. This means, he explained, that the belt price of each car and that buyers would be able to order the belts removed if they wished to save the cost of belts.

"I firmly believe," he said, "that few of our customers will elect to pass up safety of this magnitude for a modest cost."

He said he didn't feel that seat belts were a panacea for the rising tide of auto accidents, but he thinks they will have a major effect in lowering fatalities.

"Nothing will save lives as well as a caution of safe drivers. But every safety measure helps — and belts in every car will go a long way toward our life saving objective."
